SESSION 1: PAPER PRESENTATION

Title: (SCS2) Making Space for Multilingual Student Research

Session Description: It can often be intimidating for students to present at academic conferences, let alone when it's being done in a second language. This session hopes to provide a comfortable space for ESL students to present their multilingual research in English. The Student Concerns Subcommittee welcomes abstract submissions from any student whose research is conducted primarily in a language other than English. The session will be conducted in English to provide a judgment-free space for ESL students to practice presenting their sociological research in English.

We are open to working with panelists prior to the conference to provide practice time and ensure students are well-prepared and comfortable for this session. When you submit your research paper abstract, please feel free to provide any additional information regarding supports you may need.

*This session requires submitting an abstract of the research you will be presenting.

SESSION 2: PANEL DISCUSSION

Title: (SCS1) Student Perspectives on Academic Freedom in a Polarized Time

Session Description: In a time where student activists are experiencing institutional surveillance and harassment, engaging in public sociology and activism comes with potential risks that can jeopardize academic and career opportunities. Student activists often find themselves having to choose between speaking out knowing there are associated risks, or self-censorship for protection and safety. How can students engage with difficult conversations and research without risk, stigmatization and proscription? What is the role of universities in addressing these concerns? How does the surveillance of student activism target specific groups of students? In addressing this year's conference theme, can we create Harbours of Hope for Sociology student activists in a divided world? This session will bring together a group of panelists who will discuss how to transform conflict into educational engagement, intercultural empathy, and collective action for academic freedom.

We encourage students who can speak to these topics, themes and questions and are interested in being a member of this panel to contact us. Please include any relevant activism, community-based work, and/or research experience that connect to the session themes. Due to the sensitive nature of the themes being discussed, we are open to collaborating with panelists prior to the conference to ensure speakers are not placed in precarious positions.

*No abstract is required for this session as it is a panel discussion. Students interested in participating must complete the submission form & describe relevant research and/or experiences that demonstrate your ability to speak to these topics.

STUDENT SPOTLIGHT

The Student Spotlight Program is back! We know that our CSA student members are doing amazing work and we want to spotlight it! This initiative highlights CSA students' academic research, applied sociology work, activism and involvement in community engagement.

You may nominate yourself and/or another student member. Selected nominees will be featured on our website, in our newsletter, and on our social media pages for up to one (1) year. To be considered, nominees must be a member of the CSA. For more information and application instructions, check here: Student Spotlight Nomination Instructions

HSS COMMONS

We have heard that some of our student members struggle to connect with other sociology students in Canada. If you're ever unable to make it to the Coffee Chats, another way to connect is on the HSS Commons platform. The HSS Commons' helps connect and support the work of Humanities and Social Sciences researchers across Canada. Members can share, access, develop, re-purpose, and preserve scholarly data and resources. The Student Concerns Subcommittee, as well as the Canadian Sociological Association, both have pages already created to help our membership connect. Sign up for the HSS Commons here: <https://hsscommons.ca/en/>. CSA student group is here: <https://hsscommons.ca/en/groups/csastudents>
